His Excellency Shaukat Aziz,
Prime Minister,

Re: UN Convention against Corruption

Dear Prime Minister,

On 14 December 2005 the UN Convention against Corruption (UNCAC) entered into force and has now been ratified by 70 states. Pakistan is not thus far among those that have ratified. With this letter we would like to urge the Government of Pakistan to give the highest priority to ratification of the UNCAC ahead of the Conference of States Parties due to take place in December 2006. To participate fully in that Conference, the Government of Pakistan must deposit its instrument of ratification by 10 November 2006.

The UNCAC is a landmark global agreement, which calls for preventive measures and the criminalisation of the most prevalent forms of corruption in both the public and private sectors, as well as providing the framework for international cooperation so essential for addressing the corruption problem. It also makes a major breakthrough in establishing a better basis for asset recovery.

The first session of the Conference of States Parties for the UNCAC will take place at the Dead Sea in Jordan on 10-14 December 2006. The Conference in Jordan will shine a spotlight on the corruption problem and on which governments are making efforts to address it. Ratifying the UNCAC before December will demonstrate to the world that your Government is committed to the international fight against corruption. It will also ensure that your Government has a seat at the table when important decisions are made in December on UNCAC monitoring and technical assistance.

We would also like to encourage your Government to support prompt introduction of effective monitoring of UNCAC, combined with assistance to developing countries to enable them to live up to the standards the Convention sets. Monitoring provides a range of benefits to participating Governments, including guidance on how to implement, a forum for discussion of issues and sharing of good practice, assistance in addressing difficulties and public recognition of progress made. Given the importance of monitoring and technical assistance, TI has prepared the attached Report, drawing on advice from an international group of experts. The Report highlights the need for adequate resourcing of the process, for transparency in the process and for coordination with other monitoring systems. It suggests that the process should begin with government self-evaluation and a survey of implementation. We believe that the proposals in the Report provide a basis for building an international consensus on monitoring.

We would be very interested in hearing your Government's views on the above-mentioned proposals and look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,
